This magical colonial town is the jewel of Colombia's Caribbean coast, with charming cobblestone streets, brilliantly colored buildings, exotic fruits and foods, and infectious live music at every turn. There's romance all around, especially by night when it's salsa time. Stay in one of the gentrifying port city's best boutique hotels—lush Casa Lola or the beautifully restored Hotel Casa San Agustin—and make it a point to visit the surrounding islands. Casa San Agustin's new ACASI Experience takes lovers on a private boat charter to paradisiacal Isla Barú for lunch on a private white sand beach fringed by turquoise water and palms.
